The Incredible Edible (Easter) Egg

Easter is a time of springtime festivals. In Christian countries Easter is celebrated as the religious holiday commemorating the resurrection of Jesus Christ, the son of God. But the celebrations of Easter have many customs and legends that are pagan in origin and have nothing to do with Christianity.

Scholars, accepting the derivation proposed by the 8th-century English scholar St. Bede, believe the name Easter is thought to come from the Scandinavian "Ostra" and the Teutonic "Ostern" or "Eastre," both Goddesses of mythology signifying spring and fertility whose festival was celebrated on the day of the vernal equinox.

Traditions associated with the festival survive in the Easter rabbit, a symbol of fertility, and in colored Easter eggs, originally painted with bright colors to represent the sunlight of spring, and used in Easter-egg rolling contests or given as gifts.

The Christian celebration of Easter embodies a number of converging traditions with emphasis on the relation of Easter to the Jewish festival of Passover, or Pesach, from which is derived Pasch, another name used by Europeans for Easter. Passover is an important feast in the Jewish calendar which is celebrated for 8 days and commemorates the flight and freedom of the Israelites from slavery in Egypt.

The early Christians, many of whom were of Jewish origin, were brought up in the Hebrew tradition and regarded

Easter as a new feature of the Passover festival, a commemoration of the advent of the Messiah as foretold by the prophets. (For more information please visit our Passover celebration - Passover on the Net)

Easter is observed by the churches of the West on the first Sunday following the full moon that occurs on or following the spring equinox (March 21). So Easter became a "movable" feast which can occur as early as March 22 or as late as April 25.

Christian churches in the East which were closer to the birthplace of the new religion and in which old traditions were strong, observe Easter according to the date of the Passover festival.

Easter is at the end of the Lenten season, which covers a forty-six-day period that begins on Ash Wednesday and ends with Easter. The Lenten season itself comprises forty days, as the six Sundays in Lent are not actually a part of Lent. Sundays are considered a commemoration of Easter Sunday and have always been excluded from the Lenten fast. The Lenten season is a period of penitence in preparation for the highest festival of the church year, Easter.

Play Party Protocol

A play party is usually a private event, given by someone in their home. They are often held after another more public event, such as a munch.

Please remember that there is no guarantee that there will be a party after any event, or that you will be invited if there is. Some people are very generous in opening their homes to others, but never assume that you have an invitation unless you have specifically been invited. If someone says openly “I’m having people over to my house, all of you are invited,” that constitutes an invitation.

If you overhear someone saying, “John is having people over later,” that does not. If you do overhear that comment, it's inappropriate to either ask the person on whom you've eavesdropped or John himself about it. If you are meant to be invited, someone will let you know.

If you DO have an invitation, remember the rules of politeness your mother hopefully taught you in first grade about birthday parties.

It is not your party; you may not invite others without the express prior permission of the host. If you were invited, it likely includes your constant companion, but it does not necessarily include the nice person who sat with you. If it seems to be a large gathering, you may ask the host if they can accompany you, but do so before you mention it to them. If the answer is no, accept it pleasantly and without comment. Unless you know without question that the person you're speaking to is also invited, don't mention it. Don't mention it within earshot of others, not because you're trying to keep things anyone but because it's rude.

Remember, too, the rest of the rules that your mother hopefully taught you. You're in someone's home, treat it respectfully. Thank them for the invitation. Behave in a way that is likely to get you invited back. If you do bring someone with you, you are responsible for his or her actions. Overindulgence in alcohol or any other substance is inappropriate. Notice I said, "overindulgence." Having a glass or two of wine is one thing, drinking to a point of inebriation is another. If you're unsure of how to behave, watch those around you. Model your behavior after those whom you admire and you're unlikely to go wrong.

If you're fairly new to the community, too, bear in mind that many in the community have had parties over the years, had open houses, have done their share already. They would almost certainly be glad to have new people open their homes as well. Don't feel as though you'd be presumptuous by having a party of your own, though it's often a good idea to sound it out to those who are active in the community.

If you've never hosted a party yourself, don't complain when there aren't parties available to suit you. If you think there should be parties, be the one who opens your home. Doing that a few times will make you appreciate the effort involved in doing so.

When I take anyone new to a play party, I tell them precisely what is expected and allowed, and what is not. I tell them that nudity is likely and that, while respectful admiration from a polite distance is fine, drooling is not. By and large, complimenting the Top on their submissive is usually safe. One does not say, "Your sub has a great ass," one says, "You have such a lovely submissive." I make it clear that they are not to touch anything that does not belong to them, whether it's a thing or a person, without express permission. If you really want to look at those earrings in the light, ask the Top in the relationship if you may touch them, or get close enough for a good look. If the person is wearing the earrings is unaccompanied, ask them directly. If the answer is, "I'm sorry, my Master/Mistress doesn't allow that," accept the information courteously and go on.

Again, don't assume that simply because a person identifies as a submissive, that they are submissive to you unless you have that express relationship and agreement with them. It is inappropriate to expect anyone else to wait on you or defer to you in any way other than what normal courtesy demands. While you may be a Master, you are not master of all you survey. You will garner much more respect by behaving courteously and pleasantly to everyone, regardless of their gender or identification within the community. It is perfectly acceptable, however, to allow someone to get you something if they offer.

It's called a play party because you are likely to see people playing. By and large, those of us who play in public do so because we enjoy it. We are exhibitionists as well as voyeurs. If people are playing, you may watch. You may plop yourself down on the couch, in fact, and watch with rapt attention, and not be considered rude. You will be considered rude if you interrupt the scene except in case of emergency ("Pardon me, the house is on fire..."). Don't talk to the people in the scene unless they speak to you first. Don't talk loudly to your companions. As a guide, behave as though you're watching a performance at a theatre. It's appropriate to lean to the person sitting beside you and whisper something in his or her ear, but it's inappropriate to speak to the actors and/or disturb the performance. If you need to leave the room, do so quietly and wait for a break in the action, if possible. If people seem to want privacy, if they've retreated to a private area, if they've closed a door, don't intrude. Sexual acts may or may not occur around you or in front of you. Before participating in them yourself with your partner, make sure you know what the house rules are.

There are usually separate areas at a party for socializing and for playing. Please respect those segregations. Don't chatter with your best friend in the play area while others are playing, don't decide that the buffet table is precisely the right height for a spanking bench. If you're a newcomer, it's usually a nice courtesy to ask the host before using equipment. Smoking of cigarettes is usually allowed only outside at most parties. Check with the host if you're unsure, but be prepared for that response.

As you enter a community, too, bear in mind that many of the people around you may have known each other a long time, may have played together, and may have shared intimacies of which you are unaware.

There are likely a number of relationship and power dynamics you don't recognize that nonetheless exist. The people you meet may seem to you, as a newcomer, to be very physically intimate with each other, or very casual about physical contact or nudity, particularly when compared to vanilla groups. That is usually an inaccurate perception.

Simply because I might be welcome to hug that cute little female submissive, don't assume that you are. Because I have her Master's permission to see her new piercing does not mean you do, too. Perhaps I have her Master's permission because I have known them for a period of time, perhaps I knew the submissive before the Master himself did, perhaps that submissive is sometimes submissive to me as well. Simply because that person may hug me, don't assume that they are comfortable hugging you, too. Allow people to become comfortable around you, recognize that you are a newcomer in an existing community which already has a number of complicated relationships in place.

What you see at parties is a private matter among those who were there, as is the identity of others within the community. It is inappropriate to discuss the party in front of others who were not invited, it is inappropriate to disclose what you may know about those who either attended or hosted it. A trust in your ability to be confidential, to be discreet in terms of what you may see or hear or know will also go a long way towards your acceptance within a community.

If you're unsure what is appropriate at a party, ask. Ask the host of the party, ask someone whom you respect in the community, ask the person(s) involved. And ask before you commit the faux pas that gives you a reputation as a wannabe or a jerk or a bitch. Reputations can be hard to shake. If you do something that you realize was inappropriate, apologize. The only apology which ever hurts one's reputation is the one that was owed but not spoken or acknowledged.

Training The Slut - Part One

Slowly she opened her eyes, pain forcing awareness on her. She tries to move but can't; she is restrained to a table. She looks down to where the pain comes from. She finds both nipples have been pierced. Each nipple has a rod with a loop hanging from it.

"Glad to see you are awake, now we can continue." She turns her head toward the voice.

"What did you do to me?"

"Why, little one, nothing compared to what I am going to do." She follows him with her eyes as he moves to the end of the table, between her wide-spread legs. His voice resonates "I have watched you both online and off. I want you for my slut."

Those words brought moans of fear, "I am no ones slut. Please let me go."

He just smiles. She feels him spread her nether lips, feels the coldness of the solution he dabbed on her. She screams out in pain as the clamp is applied to her clit. Without hesitation a sharp needle pierced her hood. Her screams vibrated the room.

She was now pierced in 3 places. Tears of her pain flowing, He wipes one up. "There my beauty, now you can be trained."

"I need to see how well you adapt to size." She felt his finger enter her cunt, felt it scrape her inside. Slowly in and out he pushes gauging her. He then begins to insert 2 fingers, he feels her tightness. She will have to do better he thinks. "You need to learn to relax and accept, little one."

"It hurts!" she says, and he smiles.

Training The Slut - Part One

"This is just the beginning," and he speeds the insertion to 3 fingers. She screams out and tries to move. "No use," he says "When I am through, you will take anything and any size anywhere I demand." He pulls out his fingers and tells her to suck them to make them wet. She turns her head away. He grabs her jaw.

"NEVER REFUSE ME!" He forces the fingers into her mouth. "Do as I say or you will regret it." Fearfully she sobs and begin to suck on his fingers. She gags and makes a face. "You will learn to beg for this," he states.

When she slowed, he twisted her nipple ring. This brought a scream of pain and increased effort on her part.

He removed his fingers and placed an O-ring mouth spreader. Tightening it he states "You will be open for my use and not able to refuse me. Do you understand?" Slowly she nods her head.

"You will learn to obey."

With that he forces in 3 fingers into her cunt, slamming them in each time his hand hitting the pierced clit hood. She feels the pain radiating thru her, intense and beyond belief. In and out he slams, feeling her fluids begin to flow. He smiles to himself, as her moans increase, he stops. "Enough! It is time for real training to begin."

"You will be made to take cock of all sizes, to accept them without resisting. You will learn to beg for bigger cock, and more cock anywhere. We begin now, little one."

He pulls a lever and a wheel moves up the slit in the table. This wheel has dildos of all shapes and sizes on it ranging from 7- 12 inches long and 2-6 inches around, knobby ones, tapered ones with small heads and wide bases.

She watches as the 7 inch medium one comes toward her. Her eyes widen as she watches it slowly enter her open cunt. He flips a switch and she jumps as she feels the dildo begin to vibrate and move. In and out in moves, going deeper each time, until it can not go further, then it vibrates and churns. She moans in pain, and humiliation. As he saw she accommodated this one well, he pulled it away with the flip of a switch.

The 8 inch long one advances. She moans not able to say anything coherent with the o-ring gag in. This one begins to vibrate before it gets to her. He maneuvers it so it hits her clit first, causing her to buck away as best she could.

He leaves it there, strips his clothes. He will teach her not to back away from the machine. His 9 inch hard cock springs forth. He whispers, "You will regret that, little one." He slides under the table, positions himself so that his hard cock is right at her ass. He turns up the vibrations on the dildo, and as she feels them she bucks away from it.

This one movement impales the tip of his cock in her dry ass. She screams out and tries to get off of his cock but is caught between the dildo and the cock. He takes advantage of this and slams up into her. He moans as he feels her tight ass rip and expand for him. He holds himself there enjoying her pain and the feel of her ass. Slowly in and out he begins to pump. As he does this he adjust the vibrations of the dildo up and down, to make her respond in kind.

As he feels her begin to respond, he adjusts the dildo so that it enters her cunt.

God this is so tight he thinks. She screams out that it is ripping her. In and out it goes, up and down he pumps. The friction is too much for him and he pumps her ass full of cum. He pulls out and away from the table. He flips a switch and the 8 inch dildo goes away.

He states "You will learn not to defy me, little one. That is but a sample to what could happen and will. Think on that little one for a while. I will return soon."

Event Cost Breakdown

So, I've been trying to work out which big event to go to this year, and I've decided that the overall cost had to factor in everyone's decision, not just mine. I decided to share some of my research with everyone.

All prices below are based on two people attending, with three nights in the hotel and four days' car rental. (Car rental seems to be more than my estimate, so bear that in mind.) Please let me know if you find a better deal for any of these!

As I'm sure you can tell, I like making side-by-side comparisons of things. Of course, if you're looking at attending an event, your own personality will affect how you choose.

If you can't stand being in a car for a long drive, then paying the prices to stay in FL is the way to go! On the other hand, if you like driving and new surroundings, then you'll spend more on gas.

Either way, the cost for two people to attend a local event isn't too crazy, so get out there and have fun!
