Letter from The Board

Greetings Everyone And Welcome to the Last Orlando Munch of 2002.

Can you believe that a whole year has gone by so quickly? The holidays are right around the corner and everyone is hustling and bustling around to get those last minute things done. I want to thank you for taking the time to come by the last Orlando Munch of 2002. Sounds kind of sad doesn't it? The last one, but only the last one of this year! We all need to take a little time to regroup so we can come back in 2003 and have lots more fun with our Leather family and friends. So get your rest and get ready for all that awaits in 2003.

Well I do have some good news to pass on to you before the holiday break. We have the dates set for the Bash 2003! Can I get an YYYEEEEAAAAA!! June 5th-8th, 2003 are the dates to mark down on your calendars. In just 7 short months we will again join together with 400+ kinky minded people for a long weekend of fun and frolic. Registration opens in December. If you're looking for that perfect gift to get for the people on your list who is hard to buy for, this could be your answer, Orlando Bash 2003 passes! Watch the Orlando Munch web site for more information and updates, and please excuse our mess we are currently updating and uplifting the site. Also we are working on some exciting plans for the 2003 Bash. More information will be coming out soon, but is anyone interested in coming in a day early and going on a casino cruise?

As this year comes to a close we want to remember all the good times we have had. Visiting old friends and making new friends at the Munch each month. Attending the OPEX classes, especially the hands on workshops, and getting a chance to meet others in a quite and more intimate setting. And of course attending the 2002 Bash. And how about all the black and blue diapers that were needed this year? Lots of little ones have joined our extended families and what cuties they are.

In the past year I have seen fences mended between people and Leather families joined together stronger than ever. I have seen members of our Leather community stand together against others who would condemn us just because what we do for fun and excitement was different than what they do. My holiday wish is to see this trend continue for 2003 and for years to come. Have a great holiday, play safe and please join us in January 2003 for our first OPEX and Orlando Munch of the year.

Airport Meeting

By Tatyana

I meet him at the airport. Stomach churning with excitement. Dressed exactly as he has asked – high heels, mini skirt, sheer blouse, beautiful bra showing through, no panties, stockings, and garter belt.

We get to the parking lot, the rental car I've picked up. I open the trunk. He puts his bag in. I'm opening the driver's side door when I feel his hands on me. Suddenly and strongly I'm taken off my feet. I'm surprised and disoriented. Where is up? I feel myself slam down onto the car hood. It takes me a second to breathe again. I see the parking garage ceiling above me.

"You're mine and I've waited long enough to have you."

I feel his hands pull me across the car to him, shove my legs apart.

I gasp and instinctively try to rise on my elbows – he shoves me back down on the car. His hand encircles my neck, I try and wiggle away. The hood is too slick. I'm choking and gasping for air. Terrified.

"You're not going anywhere."

I knew that before he said it. Tears form in my eyes. What happened to – he said the first time he would make love to me?

His hand still on my neck, I hear his zipper, know he's taking out his cock.

"Please...." And I don't know what to say.

"Please..." I don't know how to begin begging, or what exactly I ought to beg for...

"Please..." timid and small...as tears slip down my cheek.

"Please what?" he asks harshly. "Is this what you want?" He slams his cock into my cunt, tightening his hold on my neck as he does. I almost scream – hand across my throat preventing me as much as the surprise of it does as well.

His cock tears me apart. Huge and ripping into me without my cunt having had time to even get used to the idea of being fucked. Every stroke hurts.

His arms wrap my legs and pull them to him, pulling my cunt to him, sliding me across the car – thrusting into me as he does – I reach to plant my hands where I can pull away. And I can pull – but not with any effect – he has my ass firmly pulled to him.

He continues to thrust as I realize fully I can't get away. He takes my clit between his fingers and pinches. I gasp, squirm. He releases the pressure until he's just holding it between his fingers, a nice strong pressure while he thrusts.

My cunt has opened, gotten wet and his thrusts, while still deep and hard, feel good.

Sexual Freedom

do you know?

- Many forms of sexual expression practiced by millions of American adults—including sodomy, SM and swinging—are still illegal in many areas under antiquated sex laws
- Prejudiced, puritanical regulations and law enforcement are used regularly against people who enjoy alternative sexual expression
- Anti-gay bigots, racists and sexists, urged on by religious right, continue to use sex to marginalize and persecute minority groups

His fingers holding my clit feel good – I put my hands against the hood and try to fuck him back – move with him. I wrap my legs tighter around him. “So you like this, don’t you?” I moan, continuing to move with him. Desperate to fuck him.

“I asked you if you like this,” his voice is harsh. His flat hand makes contact with my tit in a vicious slap. As he pulls out of my cunt.

As shocking and sudden as the start of this rape was -- this is worse. Then he pulls me by my hair and upper arm, spinning me on the hood, putting my face right by his cock. He grips my face with one hand while he pulls at his cock with the other. He glares down into my tear stained face. His come splashes into my face.

I watch him as his body relaxes. I take in the smell and feel of his come.

He steps back from the car, back from me. Watching me. Putting himself back into his pants. I lay there, and then slowly move. And then only to put my fingers to my face, I close my eyes as I massage the come into my cheeks and then take my fingers and taste them, greedily wanting to taste him.

I open my eyes to find him standing over me. His finger traces the side of my face slowly. I look at him.

He slides an arm under my shoulders and another under my legs and lifts me in his arms.

“Clean the rest of your face,” he quietly orders. I use my fingers to find any moisture that hasn’t soaked into my skin, and I lick it off my fingers. When I am done, he takes me to the passenger side of the car and sets me down. He opens the door and after I sit, he closes me in the car.

“After dinner, I may let you suck my cock. Or I may make love to you. Or I may send you home alone,” he says, not looking at me.

He backs the car out, turns to go forward, and as we exit the parking garage and the sun blinds us he turns to me, smiles and says, “I haven’t decided yet what to do with you, Sweet Pea.”

Hunger of Darkness

In darkness great hunger of pain exist,
In a soul is found hunger of the dark pain.
In such hunger a soul can lose itself,
In darkness such hunger can be released.

Within the shadow is a soul of a man,
Within the light is a soul of the hard need
With the shadows is a hunger needing feed
Within the light is a soul in need of release.

Here stands man with a soul of dark hunger,
Here is a soul of the man, who feeds on pain,
Here in the shadows one finds a sadist,
Here stand the darkest of hunters..

In darkness does such hunger feed for within the darkness does a soul fill with hunger

In darkness will the hunter find his prey
For within the darkness, is a need that matches
the hunger of pain.

Sensory Deprivation Is Like No Other Form Of Bondage

By Karen E. Matroni

<http://www.LoveLifeLeather.com>

Sensory deprivation is like no other form of bondage. By removing all that is familiar, all that is known, the Dominant can truly take control out of the hands of the submissive. If a submissive is not blindfolded, he or she can still see in a limited way. If a gag is not used, a submissive can theoretically still use the power of speech. If a submissive has access to sound, he or she can hear what may be about to happen next. And if a submissive can feel, any stray breath of air can distract from the work the Dominant is doing. Removing each sense one by one allows the submissive to let go and fly, free of all the mundane sensations the world has to offer. The sensations that are left—the heartbeat, the breathing and what is being done by the Dominant—are intensified exponentially. The combination of sensory deprivation and SM combine to create an experience that is more than just the sum of its parts.

Sensory deprivation can also be a form of fear play. The sense of helplessness is heightened because the submissive cannot see, hear or feel what is coming. If One binds a submissive in a standing position and then moves around, intentionally making the submissive lose his or her balance, it heightens the helplessness and intensifies the fear of not knowing what is to come.

And finally, it is a deep form of trust. The senses are our primary mechanism for sensing danger. If one allows those senses to be muted or muffled in some way, it is placing a deep level of trust in the hands of the Dominant. Safe words cannot be used in the conventional sense. The submissive has to trust the Dominant's power of perception to look for and actually see any pre-arranged gesture indicating distress. That level of trust is a deeply heartfelt gift and should never be taken lightly

The Five Senses and How to Control Them

Sight

The easiest and probably most common form of sensory deprivation play is the removal of the sense of sight. Taking away the sense of sight allows other bodily sensations to intensify because any visual input cannot distract the brain from the other more interesting things happening to the body. The usual tools used for removing sight are blindfolds, scarves, hoods and even hands.

Hearing

The next level of sensory deprivation is removing or controlling the sounds the submissive hears. By removing sounds, the Dominant controls the submissives' ability to guess at what is happening next. he or she cannot hear any movements the Dominant makes while setting up, getting into position or picking up an implement. By being careful, the Dominant can easily move around the submissive and place random caresses or slaps and the submissive will never know what direction the sensation will come from next. Using foam earplugs can backfire as the form has a tendency to crinkle once in place. This can produce a "white noise" which may be distracting. Using cotton balls in conjunction with a head wrap or a hood is a better method of totally removing sound from the environment. However, if One wishes to control the noise rather than eliminate it, headphones will do the trick. If One is playing in a public space, the natural noise factor of music, talking, etc. creates an adequate barrier to the submissive's sense of sound.

Taste/speech/ breathing

Technically, speech and breathing are not senses but they can go hand in hand with removing or, more specifically, controlling the sense of taste. Having no control over what one tastes places one more aspect of control in the hands of the Dominant. It is inescapable. The tools for controlling the sense of taste range from food products to leather products. Food should never go fully into the mouth and should be checked so that the chance of choking is reduced. Lollipops and peppermint sticks can work well for short-term scenes. However, wedges of orange, grapefruit or lemon make excellent long term taste controllers and gags. Of course, there are many types of gags available for removing speech and controlling taste. The natural taste of a rubber horse bit or ball gag has its own charm. A few drops of edible essential oil on a gag can change the taste for better or for worse. Soft rope can also be used as a gag that can be easily cleaned. And of course, a small dildo is always a wonderful way to fill someone's mouth. One of the easiest ways to control breathing is by using a gas mask. By simply placing a hand over the intake on a gas mask, One can safely and effectively cut off oxygen intake.

Smell

The sense of smell has the strongest memory recall power of all the senses. Removing the sense of smell is impossible if One is using a gag as the submissive has to breathe from somewhere! However, the ways to control smell are limitless. As mentioned above, using a wedge of citrus is an effective way to control the sense of taste and speech. It can also work to control the sense of smell. Mentholated creams such as Vicks Vapo-rub can work wonders for clearing the sinuses and removing any other smells. The Dominants perfume or cologne can also be used to reinforce the submissive's acquiescence to the Dominant. It will also allow the submissive to recall the experience each time that particular scent is used by the Dominant in everyday life. Another item I like to use is a rich smelling piece of suede or leather draped over the submissive's head, just touching but not obscuring the nostrils. If the leather has been left in a warm area such as a car so much the better, as the wonderful scent is intensified.

Touch

As the most all-encompassing sensation of all, touch takes the longest to control. The largest organ of the body, the skin, has thousands of nerve endings. In order to control or minimize the sensations the submissive is feeling, this fact has to be taken into account. One of the most complete ways to attain this goal is to mummify the submissive. The use of a thick layer of saran wrap or latex wrapping provides a complete barrier to any outside stimulus. For the more committed, latex or rubber vacuum beds can be purchased. These beds allow the Dominant to literally suck all the air out and leave the submissive beautifully encased in clear or black latex or rubber, looking for all the world like a hermetically sealed Han Solo. The use of body bags, sleep sacks, straight jackets, spreader bars, rope, suspension, bondage belts, hoods, etc. all can provide different levels of control over the sense of touch.
